

5 SERIES

- 1 5 Series has the thickness and flexibility to specify socketry in a back-to-back configuration as shown
- 2 High level offices can be created to provide division within an open plan office but can always be demounted and reconfigured
- 3 5 Series electric screens can provide electric socketry in many different ways
- 4 Full glass screens can be used to create quiet areas which still allow freedom of sight
- 5 By using internal blinds office pods can be turned into private areas

- The 5 Series range is designed to provide total screen solutions for electricians and high level offices
- Utilising a full aluminium frame and our durable lightweight internal panel 5 Series is not only protected but lightweight too
- 5 Series uses its increased thickness to provide integral cable management solutions
- Feed through cable management and cable dump facilities can be used individually or in tandem
- When high level office capability is required 5 Series can be offered as a advantageous alternative to partitioning
- Features such as wall fixes, doors, vision panels and internal blinds can be used to tailor segregated areas for you

